NON-COMMITTAL DECISION BY THE ARBITRATION COMMISSION NO RESPONSIBILITY ON EITHER SIDE

OUTLOOK GLOOMY QUESTION OF SANCTIONS NOT TO BE DROPPED UGLY INCIDENT AT ADDIS ABABA CHIEF OF CUSTOMS AT HARRAR ARRESTED

Paris, To-day.
The expectations held here that England would drop the demand for the employment of sanctions when the matter came to a head at Geneva now appear to have been abandoned.

L'Intransigeant describes the outlook as distinctly pessimistic. M. Laval having left for Geneva 24 hours before he intended only proves that the talks with Mr. Anthony Eden, British Minister for League of Nations Affairs, did not assure him.

L'Intransigeant recalls the resolutions of the Trades Unions' Congress at Margate and the pronouncement of the Archbishop of York, both in favour of sanctions, even if these meant war. These, in the opinion of the paper, make it impossible for Mr. Eden to retract.

GRAVE INCIDENTS

A message from Rome states that grave incidents have occurred at Addis Ababa, according to reports which had been received there, which state that the Italian Legation was showered with stones and revolver shots on Monday night, the instigator being the chief of the Customs at Harrar. Only after the Italian Charge d'Affaires had complained personally to the Emperor was the offender arrested.

MINORITIES IN EUROPE GENEVA CONGRESS CLOSED OPPRESSION CONTINUES UNCHECKED

CHINA MAIL - SPECIAL
Geneva, To-day.
The 11th European Nationalities Congress closed late yesterday afternoon, its labours having suffered from the acute crisis through which the League of Nations itself is now passing. A resolution carried unanimously by all the minorities groups concerned declared that in most parts of Europe the oppression of nationalities continues unchecked, and that millions of people belonging to the minorities had turned to the League of Nations seeking relief, in vain.

DUKE OF YORK BACK IN LONDON

London, To-day.—H.R.H. the Duke of York, who represented His Majesty the King at the funeral of the late Queen Anne in Brussels yesterday morning, flew back to London yesterday afternoon. British Wireless Service.

Robert Wood Johnson, millionaire New Brunswick, New Jersey, manufacturer, who urges industry to cut working hours to less than 40 a week and to increase wages. Unless this is done he predicts a permanent army of fifteen to twenty-five million people on relief rolls.

WARNER BROWN ARRESTED

Acting Trustee of A.O.F.C. in Manila

NIGHT SPENT IN CUSTODY OF SECRET SERVICE

Manila, To-day.

Mr. Warner Brown, acting trustee of the American Oriental Finance Corporation in Manila, whose arrest was requested by the U.S. District Attorney in Shanghai, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a warrant issued yesterday morning.

He searched in vain until a late hour for bail of 20,000 pesos, and spent the night in the custody of the secret service, who have arranged to send Mr. Brown to Shanghai in the s.s. President Hoover, but this has not definitely been arranged yet.

A later message states that Mr. Brown, interviewed by Benter this morning, said that he was proceeding to Shanghai this afternoon by the President Hoover in the custody of Captain Anderson of the boat, who is acting as Deputy U.S. Marshal.—Reuter.

CHINA-JAPAN ECONOMIC ALLIANCE

Extensive Rights In North China

NANKING TO RECOGNISE MANCHUKUO

(From Our Own Correspondent)
Canton, To-day.

Reports from Shanghai and Tokyo indicated last night that China and Japan are soon to enter into a close economic alliance which will lead to Nanking's recognition of Manchukuo. Considerable attention is attached here to such a move, as the de jure recognition of Manchukuo is opposed by public opinion throughout the country. General Chiang Tso-pin, Chinese Ambassador in Tokyo, is negotiating with the Japanese Government for an economic alliance. Although the terms of the Tangku armistice have never been officially divulged, Japanese spokesmen have said that the pact obliges China to grant Japan the right to establish railways, wireless stations, telegraphs and civil aviation in North China.

AMERICA TO CANCEL OIL CONCESSION STANDARD-VACUUM OIL CO. WITHDRAWS ITALIAN CITIZEN STONED IN ADDIS ABABA

Paris, To-day.

The Italo-Abyssinian Commission has decided that no responsibility of any kind, either moral or pecuniary, attaches either to Italy or Ethiopia in the Ual Ual incident or subsequent events.

It is understood that the Arbitration Commission's unexpectedly conciliatory and non-committal decision was reached because the arbitrators reasoned that the League Council's decision of August 3 ruled out of the Commission's purview the question of the ownership of Ual Ual, making it virtually impossible to give a legal decision. They accordingly resolved to deal with the question on the basis of an examination of the facts, which was difficult nine months after the event.

Considering that the Italians at Ual Ual were acting colonially and the Ethiopians nationally, the Commission found itself unable to impute the blame to Ethiopia.

The decision is regarded here as clearing the horizon of a troublesome incident and tending to facilitate the peaceful solution of the Italo-Abyssinian problem.

A message from Washington states that the State Department says that the Abyssinian oil concession is to be cancelled.

A later message states that Mr. Cordell Hull announced that as a result of a discussion he had with officials of the Socony-Vacuum oil company, they declared that they had withdrawn from the concession.

FORMAL STATEMENT

A formal statement issued by Mr. Cordell Hull declares that Mr. H. Dundas, Vice-President, and Mr. George Walden, Chairman of the Standard Vacuum Oil Co. Ltd., (not the Socony-Vacuum Corporation, Ltd.), called to tell him that their company owned the concession granted to the African Exploration and Development Co., which is a subsidiary of the Standard Vacuum Oil Co. Ltd., and sought the State Department's advice on the situation created by the grant.

Mr. Hull informed them that the granting of the concession had caused great embarrassment, not only to the United States Government but to the others who were making strenuous efforts for the preservation of peace. In the circumstances the Government was of the opinion that it was highly desirable that steps should be taken very soon to terminate the concession.

WEATHER REPORT

A weak anticyclone covers the Pacific to the east of Japan and a ridge of high pressure extends from it across Korea, to the Upper Yangtze Valley. A shallow depression is situated to the east of Shanghai, moving east-north-east. A depression covers the Gulf of Tongking. The typhoon is situated in about Lat. 20N; Long. 152E, moving W.N.W. The local forecast for to-day, as issued by the Royal Observatory this morning, was east winds, moderate, cloudy, some local showers.

LEAGUE ASSEMBLY

Mr. de Valera Next President?

CHINA MAIL - SPECIAL
Dublin, To-day.
Mr. E. de Valera, President of the Irish Free State, left for Geneva yesterday, where he will take part in the League of Nations Assembly beginning on Monday next. The news prevails here that if Mr. de Valera is nominated for the Presidency of the Assembly, he will have good prospects of being elected.—Trans-Ocean Service.

LINER AGROUND ON REEF

Three Vessels Stand By In Storm

PASSENGERS UNABLE TO BE TAKEN OFF

New Orleans, To-day.

Notwithstanding mountainous seas, the steamers Limon, Reaper and Platano fought their way to the Dixie. They are standing by, unable to transfer the passengers until the storm subsides.—Reuter.

An earlier message stated that the Southern Pacific Company's $1,188-ton liner Dixie, bound for New Orleans, ran aground on Carysfort Reef, Florida, yesterday with 275 passengers aboard.

The ship was in the path of a hurricane moving westward from the Bahamas.

The Naval radio station at Miami picked up requests from the ship for immediate assistance. The seas were pounding the vessel heavily. Coastguard cutters were proceeding to the scene from Jacksonville.

75 KILLED

A later message from Jacksonville, Florida, states that 75 people were killed and 47 injured in a hurricane which struck the veterans' camp on the islands near Key West.

Motor-boats are being rushed from the Key West naval station to aid the survivors, who are without food and water.—Reuter.

GREEK NAVY INCREASE

WARSHIPS TO BE BUILT ABROAD

CHINA MAIL - SPECIAL
Athens, To-day.

The law which has hitherto forbidden the construction of Greek war vessels in foreign countries had just been suspended by a decree of the Navy Minister, so that the Greek Admiralty is now free to order war vessels abroad so as to reinforce the navy at an accelerated rate.

Four destroyers will be ordered forthwith.—Trans-Ocean Service.

LOCAL BANK CLOSES

PAYMENTS SUSPENDED BY BANK OF CANTON

Alleged Voluntary Liquidation

SENSATION IN LOCAL BUSINESS CIRCLES

A considerable sensation was caused in local business circles this morning when the news got around that the local office of the Bank of Canton, Ltd., had suspended payment. The doors of the Bank in Des Voeux Road were besieged by a large crowd of interested persons, who saw affixed to the front entrance a notice in English and Chinese, the English portion of which read:

"This Bank temporarily suspends payment pending reorganization."

It was impossible to obtain any responsible official statement at first hand, but a high official of the Bank is reported to have stated that the Bank will file a petition for voluntary liquidation. The official is said to have expressed the view that depositors are fully covered, and that shareholders will be the only sufferers.

"MINOR RUN" YESTERDAY

He is further reported to have admitted that the Bank suffered a "minor run" yesterday. The suspension of payments may be attributed, according to the official concerned, to the general depression, a falling off in Chinese support, and the United States silver policy.

Run On Savings Bank

Following the suspension of payment by the Bank of Canton this morning, the National Savings and Commercial Bank has experienced a run to-day. The Secretary, Mr. Mann K. Wong, confirmed that this run had taken place. At present the Bank is paying 20 per cent of the deposits and, after 10 days only 10 per cent will be paid. The present assets of the Bank amount to $10,000,000, the deposits to $5,000,000.

NOTICE POSTED

A notice has been posted in the bank to the effect that depositors will only be allowed to draw one-fifth of their total deposits in the bank, and that every withdrawal shall take place at intervals of 10 days.

CASES OF ETHER EXPLODE

11 Injured In Tientsin Railway Station

Tientsin, To-day.

The explosion of cases of ether in the baggage room of the Tientsin East station caused casualties to eleven persons, of whom two were seriously injured, yesterday afternoon.

Ten wooden cases containing ether in bottles were brought up to the station by a Japanese forwarding concern, who did not declare the nature of the cargo and contrary to regulations, intended to despatch it by a passenger train.

The explosion occurred in the baggage room, being placed on the scales.—Reuter.

CARE OF THE HAIR
WHILE AT SEAOily Hair Tonic Is Advisable

Hair needs special attention on board ship, as sea air makes it dry and brittle. Use an oily hair tonic of the type made up for dry scalps. A rosemary and jaborandi lotion would be good as it will bring back the colour that is bleached out by the sun. Try not to let your hair get wet when bathing. Sea-water makes it sticky. Under your cap wear a length of crepe bandage wound round the hairline and pinned with a safety-pin. It will prevent the water seeping under the cap.

Some haberdashers sell bandages ready prepared for this purpose.

Hair grows quickly at sea, so have a shorter cut than usual before coming on board if you want it to last the cruise. You can, of course, have your hair washed, set and cut on board whenever you like. It is wise to take a pair of curling tongs or some rubber curls with which to revive stray curls that may go limp with the sea air or the salt water.

ASIATIC DANCERS

London Folk Dance
Festival

The Soviet authorities have decided to send three professional ballet dancers from the State theatres in Tashkent to exhibit in Usbek, Tajik and other Central Asian native dances at the coming Folk Dance Festival in London. Among them is "the honoured people's artist," Tamara Khanum.

A professional dancer from the Tashkent Jewish theatre will also display the local dances of his race in Turkistan.

Acquiring The Art Of TanningA Few Hints From The Film Stars

HOUR OF DAY IS VITAL

We read of the sun-kissed beauty of the stars of the silver screen—and there is envy in our hearts, particularly if we have skins that hate the tropical sun. A sun tan is a simple matter to Hollywood. It can be bought at the beauty parlour or acquired under artificial lights. But in spite of these synthetic come-ons, most Hollywooders prefer the good old-fashioned way with modern trimmings.

Starts Early

Joan Crawford begins her tanning early in the year, around the first of March, in a roofless canvas tent in her own back yard.

"The first day," she explains, "I stay only fifteen minutes, five minutes each for front, back and sides. During the summer I take a dip in my pool between the turnovers. By the end of the week I increase the sunning to thirty minutes. By the end of the second week I am comfortable under a ninety-minute stretch."

Joan also says the hour of the day is important. She chooses those between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. because the rays are the hottest and most direct at that time.

The Oils To Use

Now for the oils. The first week Joan uses a liberal application of pure petroleum—then comes the French dressing. Here's her recipe:

"Take six ounces of vinegar and mix it with an equal amount of olive oil, then add one-half teaspoon of salt and shake well." "Rub this solution well into the skin every half-hour," she continues, "and don't forget to shake it well every time."

Sylvia Sydney has her own defence against sunburn—white vaseline. Her house also has an open porch designed for sunbaths. Katharine DeMille is another girl whose complexion is dark enough not to warrant any oil—but she protects the texture of her skin through the summer sunnings by using three ounces of pine oil to every bath.

Kay Francis is another dark-complexioned, sun-loving beauty. So is Adrienne Ames. Both use only plain vinegar, which they apply after each sunning. To keep her colour down for the camera Miss Francis has a facial once a week with a skin food and lemon juice. She tans so easily that, so to speak, she no sooner gets it than she has to get rid of it.

COMBINATIONS THAT ARE CHICPink Linen Suit And
Black Accessories

If you want to be especially chic on hot days, select a pink linen suit, white blouse, black and white shoes, white gloves pink linen hat with black band and either a plain white or black purse.

Another nice combination uses a dubonet linen suit or dress as a nucleus, turquoise blouse or ascot, turquoise hat with dubonet band, white shoes and gloves. Touches of lime green are nice with the new tones of lilac. So are yellow, brown with white polka dots and deep purple.

HOME-SETTING HAIR
STYLES BESTMakes For Healthier
Locks

Coiffures that require no weekly beauty shop waves are most suitable in summer. The girl who can rinse her hair in fresh water after each salt water swim, dry it herself, is going to have healthier hair than one who has to neglect the rinses for fear of ruining a wave.

If your features are regular and small enough to stand it, get your locks cut very short, have a ringlet end permanent and wear small curls all over your head. While drying your hair in the sunshine, set the short ends in loose ringlets, or, if you are quite young, run your fingers through the strands during the drying process and forget about curls.

LINEN ENSEMBLES
FOR SUMMERAs Exquisite As A
Silk Frock

Frocks of linen come in all the popular styles, including plain shirtwaist, buttoned-down-the-front and simple two-piece with blouses to be worn over the hips or tucked into the skirt.

They have all the exquisite tucked and pleated details usually found in silk dresses of the better varieties. They are as well tailored as your favourite spring on fall suit, yet can be washed and ironed as easily as a kitchen apron. They save dry cleaning bills and they make you look fresh and crisp as a field flower, dripping with morning dew. This summer, no wardrobe is complete without at least one linen ensemble.

IS YOUR CHILD
TROUBLED WITH WORMS?

A common complaint with little children in the East, if the presence of worms is suspected the child should be treated without delay.

Some of the signs which indicate the presence of worms are irregular appetite, grinding of the teeth in sleep, irritability, pain and swelling of the abdomen, irritation of the nose, bad breath.

The parasites deprive the child of much of the nourishing effect of food, with the result that he becomes thin and weak and his healthy development is arrested.

Baby's Own Tablets have been used with the greatest success in expelling worms, and are equally helpful in cases of infantile constipation, upset stomach, biliousness, diarrhoea, simple fever, colds and croup, and to relieve the pains of teething.

Mildly laxative, the tablets keep the little one's internal organs clean and healthy. Guaranteed under public analyst's certificate to contain no opiate or narcotics, the tablets are absolutely pure and harmless even to the youngest infant in arms. Chemists everywhere sell this health boon for little children.

SKIRTS VERSUS SEACKS

Trousers Compromise

Skirts for beach and sun-bathing wear are having a big success this summer. Here is a suggestion from Paris which could be carried out in one of the charming printed linens now so inexpensively obtainable in the sales. A simple dress with deep pockets, a halter neck and backless. With it is a wide-sleeved bolero jacket of the same printed linen. Many of the new beach trousers effect a compromise by being cut very wide.

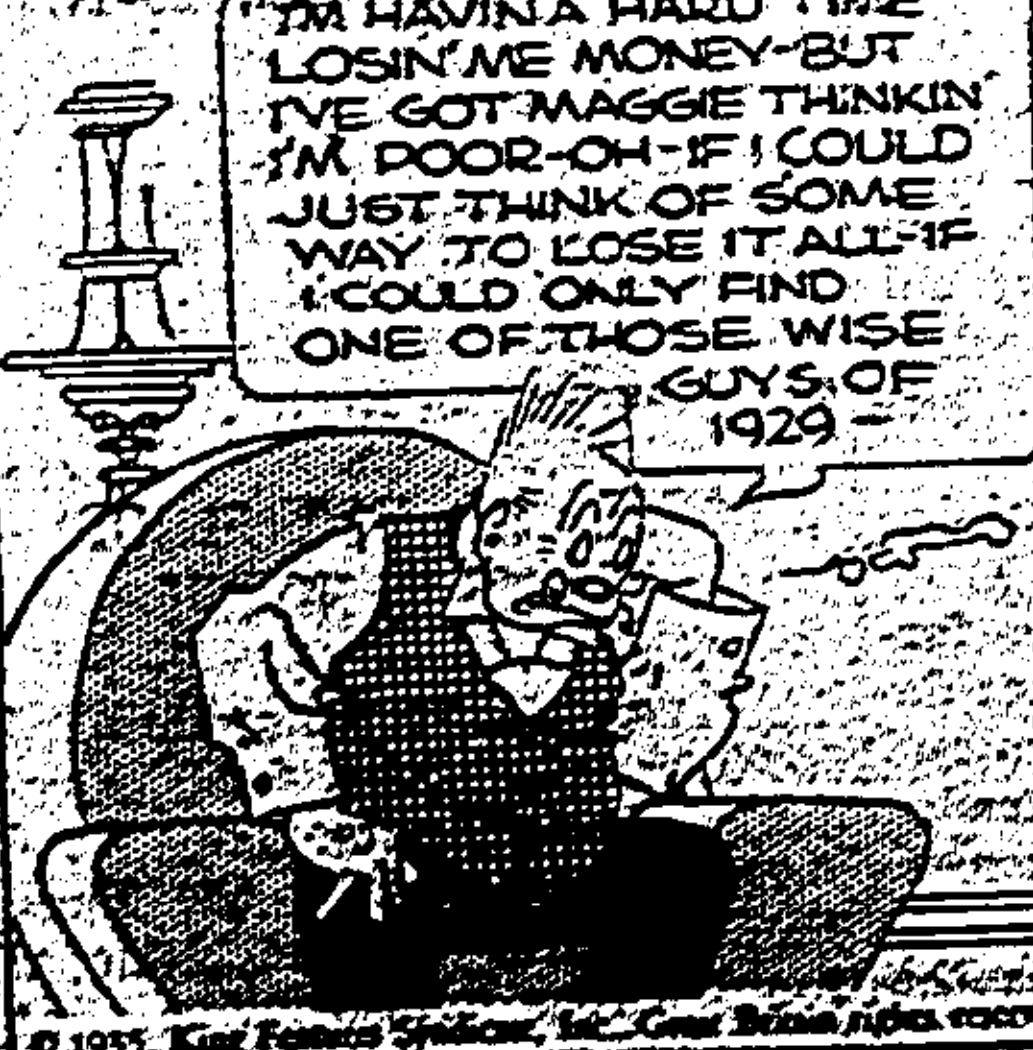

Yet another compromise in the choice between skirts and trousers for the beach—a trouser-skirt in spotted heavy linen, cut on the lines of those worn for golf. It is accompanied by a brief bolero to match. Hand-knitted swim-suits have initials boldly embroidered in front. Another alternative is a short of printed linen, with a short tailored jacket. The trousers are cut so wide as to be almost indistinguishable from a long skirt.

ALLEGED MURDER
ON LANTAUPreliminary Hearing
Begun

POLICE EVIDENCE

The preliminary hearing of the case against five men charged with murder of a man named Au Wan-fai at Chukowan Village, Lantau Island, on September 2 last year, was commenced before Mr. W. Schofield, at the Central Magistrate's Court yesterday afternoon.

The defendants were Pun Kam-choi, Ho Wah, Ho Yau, Pun Tak and Lau Cheung.

Inspector A. H. Elston conducted the prosecution, in the absence of Mr. W. J. Lockhart-Smith, the Assistant Crown Solicitor, and offered only formal evidence of the arrest of the defendants.

After Acting Sub-Inspector W. N. Dinkin, officer-in-charge of Cheung Chau Police Station, had given evidence of being called to Chukowan Village, Lantau, where Yip Choi, wife of the dead man, pointed out the body and described what had taken place, and evidence had also been given of the arrest of the five accused, the case was adjourned till 2.30 p.m. to-day.

Cinema Notes

Sydney Howard, the great comedian and star of British and Dominion films, is at the same time one of the biggest individual attractions on the London stage, and one of its hardest workers.

No actor has had a better chance of contrasting fun-making on stage and screen. Whilst he was making "It's a Cop," he was asked if he did not find the complete silence of the studio disconcerting after the roars of laughter with which the same sallies were greeted by the theatre audience.

"It doesn't seem to worry me," he said. "It certainly is comforting to hear a bit of laughter; it gives you the feeling that you are successfully getting your effects. It warms you up and may give you just the right stimulation to produce a great performance."

"But I've become so used to the atmosphere of the studio by now that nothing can bother me."

"Picturegoers laugh at things which would be greeted quite unresponsively in the theatre. I think the reason is that the screen gives a closer view, so that no expression is lost. A cinema audience has the best possible chance to see a comedian's eyes, for example, and much comic expression resides in the eyes."

"GIGOLETTE"—QUEEN'S

"Gigolette," the current attraction at the Queen's Theatre, starring Ralph Bellamy and Adrienne Ames, is a veritable fashion parade, and will delight the hearts of the female members of the audience.

No fewer than 16 complete changes of costume are worn by Adrienne Ames in this film, and these include street dresses, evening gowns, afternoon frocks and sportswear.

When used by the vivacious star, they present a gallery of what women will wear this autumn.

Among the lovely frocks is a smart white evening dress, with an unusual clasp treatment over the shoulders. Another distinctive creation is a satin evening gown, distinguished by intricate drapery. A brown wool frock with collar and cuffs of green and brown chenille, is another of her attractive ensembles.

"THE HOUSE OF ROTHSCHILD"—STAR

George Arliss, the actor who has already portrayed such difficult characterisations as "Die-rael" and the "Iron Duke," with such remarkable success, proves his versatility, if it were ever in doubt, with his startling performance in "The House of Rothschild."

As one of the most famous members of a famous family, the picture traces his life from humble beginnings, until he becomes so powerful that the destiny of England lies in his hands.

"THE SILVER STREAK"—
MAJESTIC THEATRE

"The Silver Streak" is the name of the fastest locomotive in the world, and it conjures up a vision of streamlining carried to the highest degree.

Charles Starrett, a comparative newcomer, who has had a quick rise to fame, heads the cast, and the story is one of the most exciting ever filmed.

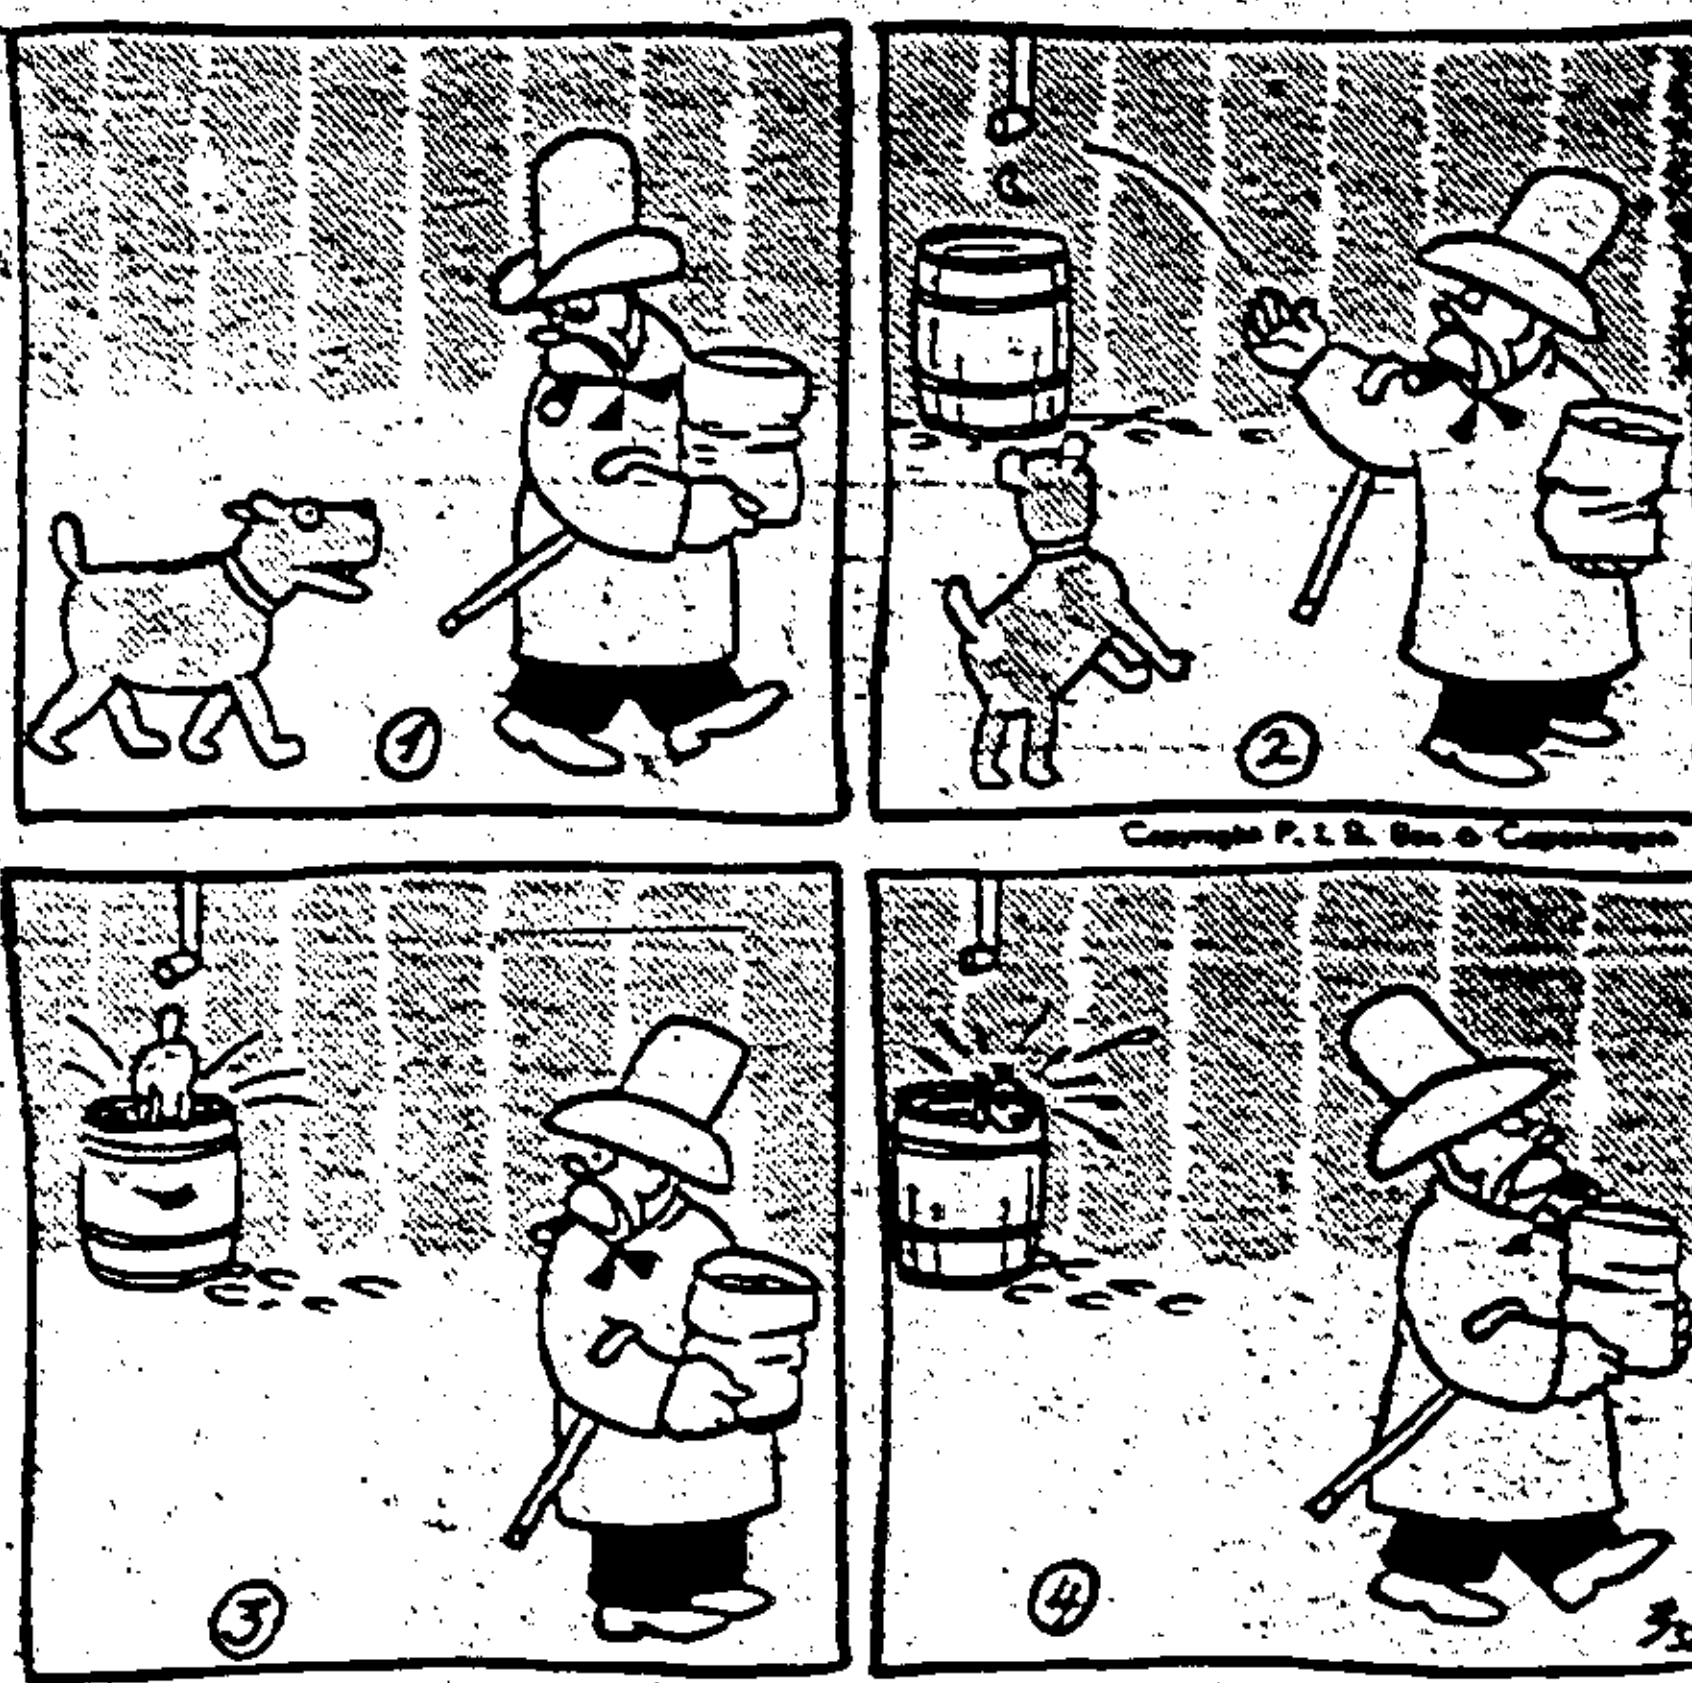

"EVELYN PRENTICE"—
ORIENTAL THEATRE

Popular demand has elected Myrna Loy and William Powell as the ideal married couple of the screen.

Box-office returns have proved they are the "Best sellers" of man-and-wife teams in pictures, and they now repeat their two previous appearances in their latest co-starring vehicle, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production of "Evelyn Prentice."

First, there was the melodramatic success, "Manhattan Melodrama." Their success in this picture led to a second one, "The Thin Man." And now, in their third appearance as a team, they appear as husband and wife in "Evelyn Prentice." Powell again

In a speech at Blatne, Dr. Edouard Benes, Czechoslovakian Foreign Minister, stated: "With France, the Little Entente, the Balkan Entente and the Soviet Union, we form an impregnable fortress of peace. I am convinced that we shall happily surmount and merge from the international political crisis."

PRETTY WEDDING
YESTERDAY

BRIDE AND GROOM WELL KNOWN LOCALLY

The marriage was solemnised, at St. Joseph's Church yesterday, of Mr. Bevan Clarence Field, Assistant Secretary of the Land Investment Co., to Miss Elsa Francis Schroter, only daughter of Mrs. Grace Schroter, who was unavoidably absent in Canada, and the late Mr. Carl Schroter, formerly a well-known resident in the Colony. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan Field of Hornchurch.

The Ceremony

The bride, who entered the Church on the arm of Mr. E. I. Wynne-Jones, looked charming in a wedding gown of tissue after a model of Patou. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies and white Honolulu Creeper.

Attending the bride were the Misses Rosalie Alabaster and Mary Roger, who wore apricot organdie gowns with silver wreaths on their hair and silver slippers. They carried sheaves of apricot gladioli.

The flower girls were Candida and Flavia Toscani, daughters of Mr. Toscani, Commissioner of Customs at Pakhoi.

The duties of best man were undertaken by Mr. John Prentiss. After the ceremony, the many guests attended a reception held at the Gloucester Building, where the health of the happy couple was toasted by Mr. G. P. de Martini.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Field left for the honeymoon, which is to be spent in Japan.

CATHEDRAL STONE
FOR HONG KONGJubilee Memento From Canterbury

Mr. R. Dormer, District Scoutmaster of Kowloon and Scoutmaster of the 1st (St. Andrew's) Troop, who attended the Pan-Pacific Scouts' Jamboree in Melbourne as a delegate from Hong Kong and afterwards went on to England, returned to the Colony this morning by the s.s. Rajputana.

Mr. Dormer has brought with him a stone from Canterbury Cathedral, one of those presented by the Friends of Canterbury Cathedral to all cathedrals in the British Commonwealth as a Jubilee memento. The stone is designated for St. John's Cathedral.

It is seen in the role of a lawyer, a part at which he excels, and Miss Loy is his sizzling wife who comes involved in a murder scandal.

LORD PETRE IN
CAR INCIDENT$20 Fine For Drive
On Hove FrontK. C. CRITICISES J. P. S.
DECISION

Mr. St. John Hutchinson, K.C., criticised the decision of the Hove Bench recently, when Lord Petre, aged 21, of Ingatestone Hall, Essex, and Jocelyn George Reginald Beauchamp, Langley Park, Norfolk, were each fined $20 and ordered to pay 30s. costs for driving motorcars without due care and attention on the Hove front.

Their licences were endorsed and they were each disqualified from driving for one month. Beauchamp was also fined 20s. for failing to conform to a traffic signal on another date.

Very Bad Case

In announcing the decision the Mayor, Councillor C. S. Loadman, said that it was a very bad case and the maximum penalty would be imposed.

Mr. St. John Hutchinson, K.C., who appeared for both defendants, asked the Bench to reconsider their decision to disqualify the drivers, and said that there were "dozens of cases far worse than this. There was no suggestion," he added, "that anyone had been in danger, and he thought the Bench had adopted a very extreme attitude."

A magistrate said that counsel was criticising the Bench's decision and not confining himself to addressing them in mitigation.

Mr. St. John Hutchinson: I can see that the Bench do not wish to hear me any further. It is only wasting my time and yours to go on.

Notice Of Appeal

When the Mayor announced that the decision of the Bench would stand counsel gave notice of appeal.

Mr. W. Jermyn Harrison, the Town Clerk, prosecuting, said that after consideration, the police were inclined to look upon the affair as a childish prank. Both Lord Petre and Beauchamp had recently come down from Oxford, where, perhaps, they had a little more licence as undergraduates than was afforded in Hove.

It was stated that the two defendants were seen driving on the Hove front at about 50 miles an hour, and had passed a constable who signalled them to stop. Lord Petre was blowing a siren. His car was closely followed by the one driven by Beauchamp.

Unseen Signal

The constable later saw Lord Petre in a Brighton hotel, and defendant, it was alleged, then said that he did not realise that the constable had signalled him to stop.

Mr. St. John Hutchinson said that although defendants denied doing 50 miles an hour they were concerned in a very foolish prank. They were two young men who looked upon the affair as rather a lark. Lord Petre had on his car a siren similar to those used by American police. Someone in the car was interested in it, so he began to blow it. The police had treated defendants with the utmost courtesy and consideration, and the latter wished to apologise.

ROTARY MEETING

Technical Education
In Hong KongINTERESTING ADDRESS BY MR.
C. WHITE, B.Sc.

At the regular weekly tiffin of the Hong Kong Rotary Club Mr. C. White, B.Sc., A.M.I. Mech. E., of the Hong Kong Technical Institute, outlined the comprehensive plans made for the training of young people for trade and industry, the need for which in the Colony was officially recognised by the Governor, Sir William Peel, and a Junior Technical School was formed which will begin to turn out apprentices next year. The details of the new Trade School on Polytechnic lines were also discussed.

Professor Hsu T'eh-an, the newly-appointed Professor of Chinese at the University of Hong Kong, was introduced as the guest of Mr. H. S. Mok.

SUPERB DISPLAY OF FOOTBALL

ROWLANDS' DARING IN GOAL ENABLES ARMY TO WIN

(By "Referee")

FOR 10 glorious minutes Lee Wai-tong, the biggest drawing card in the history of football in China, held a huge crowd spellbound by his artistry at centre-forward for the Shanghai Chinese against a representative Army side at Causeway Bay yesterday.

Despite this burst of brilliance, which led to two goals, the Army won by 5 goals to 4, after sharing four goals at the interval. Rowlands, a worthy successor to George Rodger as the Colony Interport custodian, was the only man to save an avalanche of goals from the foot of Lee—twice he left his charge to deflect powerful drives from the elusive South China player—shots that would have fully tested the goal nets. On his display yesterday nothing can keep Rowlands out of the 1935 Interport against Shanghai.

Four other players were outstanding yesterday, but not to so marked a degree—Ridley and Sandford, who is modelling his play on that of his better known colleague, and Suen Kam-shun and Tay Quee-liang.

Morgan, a hard working half, played for the Fusiliers' second team last season. Not outstandingly brilliant, he is a fearless tackler.

BRUGNON LOSES TO GENE MAKO

MISS KATHERINE STAMMERS STAGES COMEBACK

Forest Hills, N.Y., Aug. 29. Berkeley Bell, former national inter-collegiate tennis champion and co-holder of the national indoor doubles title, to-day lost to the veteran Manuel Alonzo in the annual national singles championship tournament. The Spaniard eliminated Bell in five hard-fought sets. The scores were 6-4, 7-9, 6-3, 7-5 and 6-4.

Gene Mako, youthful Davis Cup team player who failed to see action at Wimbledon this year, defeated the Frenchman, Jacques Brugnon, after a bad start. Mako dropped the first set by a love score, but came back to take the next three in succession, 6-2, 7-5 and 6-1.

YALE BASEBALLERS LOSE TO RIKKYO UNIVERSITY

Tokyo, August 28.—The visiting Yale University baseball nine were once again humbled by their Japanese adversaries to-day, when they lost to Rikkyo University by four runs to one. The game was played at the Meiji Shrine Stadium.

Rowlands, the Fusilier custodian, who played some outstanding games last season, was in brilliant form against the Shanghai Chinese yesterday. He stands an excellent chance of an Interport cap this season.

KOTEWALL CUP RECEIPTS AMOUNT TO $1,456.46

The monthly meeting of the Council of the Hong Kong Football Association was presided over by Major C. M. Manners at the Sports Club yesterday. Other members present were Commander T. A. Hussey (Vice President), Lieut. Russel (Lincolns), Lieut. Kelly (Fusiliers), Lieut. Murphy (East Lancs.), Lieut. Delamain (R.A. Lyemum), Capt. Rycroft (R.A. Stonecutters), Messrs Wood (Royal Navy), Shepherd (Police), McKelvie (Kowloon), H. E. Lee (Chinese Athletic), G. Walker (Treasurer) and M. Railton (Hon. Secretary).

The Council approved of the dates set aside by the League Management Committee for the various competitions and Charity games.

Mr. C. Hill was elected assistant Hon. Secretary on nomination by Mr. Railton, while the Hon. Secretary was instructed to write to the Hong Kong Football Club asking for permission to erect a stand on their ground, as in previous years.

The following are the entries for the different divisions:—

First Division—South China "A", South China "B", Royal Artillery (Lyemum), Royal Artillery (Stonecutters), Hong Kong Football Club, Kowloon Football Club, Club de Recreo, Hong Kong Police, Chinese Athletic, St. Joseph's, Lincolns, Fusiliers, East Lancashire and Royal Navy.

Second Division—Club de Recreo, Hong Kong Football Club, Eastern, Fusiliers, Lincolns, East Lancs, R.A.O.C. & B.A.S.C., University, Engineers, Royal Navy, Chinese Athletic, South China, Radio and Kowloon.

Third Division—Liga, Police (Europeans), Police (Chinese), R.A.M.C., Fusiliers, Lincolns, Railway Recreation Club, Engineers, Air Force, St. Joseph's and East Lancashire.

Dates Reserved

The following dates were reserved for the following matches: Governor's Cup—December 8, February 8 and April 12.

JOCK CREIGHTON WINS ON POINTS FROM MARINE

RING EXPERIENCE TELLS IN END

BELL SAVES BRITON IN THIRD ROUND

Shanghai, August 30.

Jock Creighton (11), well known in Hong Kong for his memorable clash with Seaman Harry Ewin, whom he beat, slightly more wiry than usual, but still as artful as ever, displayed his familiar plodding tactics and beat a younger and stronger boxer in Sam Lefkowitz, 143, Fourth U.S. Marines, in six hard-fought rounds in a semi-final round event in a boxing card under the auspices of Sokol at the open air arena, last night.

The rugged features of Jock Creighton are clear evidence that he has paid dearly for experience in the squared ring, but it was this experience, gained after many years and at great pain, that helped the former China welter-weight champion trim Sam Lefkowitz, new Marine battler.

For six rounds they waged a hard battle, and although Lefkowitz made an impressive debut despite his loss, he couldn't put away Jock. The Marine, however, means business and he has challenged Jock to a return bout and, as the British scrapper has accepted, a hammer-and-tong affair is in the offing.

Fast Worker

Displaying speed, both in footwork and punches, a good knowledge of ringcraft and plenty of willingness to mix it, Sam put up (Continued on Page 7)

ROWLANDS LIKELY TO BE "CAPPED"

TEAM ALMOST SELECTED

(By "Rover")

THE South Wales Borderers, who left the Colony last year with a distinguished soccer record, took nearly a year before they fell into line with local conditions, and it speaks volumes for the Royal Welch Fusiliers, their successors, to say that they have become a threatening force inside of five months of local football.

The Fusiliers came to the Colony with a very fine soccer record from the Rhine Occupation Area, but after two years of idleness at Gibraltar, nothing much was thought of their possibilities.

Within a few months of their arrival here, however, they had shown the Colony a good standard of soccer, and towards the close of the season, even went so far as to extend the best senior clubs here.

This forthcoming season the Fusiliers will have practically the same team at their disposal, with possibly one or two changes.

Grinley, the Fusilier skipper and left-half, is due to leave for Home during the next trooping season and his vacancy will be filled by Keating, the former left-back, while Wanklyn will play at left-back and also lead the team in the role of captain.

Taylor Dropped

Taylor, who played at right-half for the major portion of last season until an unfortunate incident saw him suspended for a short period, has been dropped by the team selectors in favour of Ellis, who has been promoted from the reserves.

One of the outstanding players, and judging by yesterday's display, the next Interport goalkeeper, Rowlands is a definite acquisition to any team and on yes-

"Y" BATH RECORD
EQUALLED TWICE
IN Y.M.C.A. GALA

VERY POOR TIME BY
MEN'S CHAMPION

PAUCITY OF ENTRIES FOR INFORMAL AFFAIR

Mrs. L. Mead, the former Colony lady swimming champion, excelled herself at the informal gala of the European Y.M.C.A. last night, when she equalled her own bath record of 31 seconds twice during the evening, once during the Ladies' 50 Yards championship, which she won from the only other entrant, Miss Jane Leppard, and a second time in the Ladies' 50 Yards Aggregate Handicap, when she went at scratch to beat Miss Leppard by a touch.

The outstanding feature of the night was the Men's 50 Yards Free Style Championship, which was won by H. G. Lange, the holder, in the comparatively poor time of 29 seconds! F. J. Anslow won the Men's 50 Yards Aggregate Handicap in 30 seconds!

Ladies Improve But Men...

Times in the Men's events are gradually deteriorating, while those in the ladies' section are gradually improving, with the exception of a few who seem to have dropped back to where they started some years ago.

Owing to the scarcity of "Y" swimmers, members of the Lincolnshire Regiment's water-polo team were invited to take part in several of the events, including a mixed relay and a medley relay.

Novelty Fiasco

A novelty event in which H. G. Lange and G. H. Fowler were to have covered seven lengths to five lengths by Mrs. Mead and Miss Leppard, proved a fiasco, the men being a length and a quarter behind when the ladies completed their course.

The water-polo game between mixed teams from the "Y" and the Lincolns ended in a win for the "Y" (Whites) by three clear goals, G. H. Fowler securing the "hat-trick".

Results were:

Men's 50 Yards Free Style Championship—

2. G. H. Fowler
3. R. B. Wood

Time: 29 secs.

SOLENT SWIM WON BY BRISTOL MAN

Portsmouth, August 28. E. R. G. Jones, of Bristol, to-day won the annual swim across the Solent from Portsmouth to Ryde in the record time of two hours five seconds.

Every Davis Cup encounter since 1931 has seen Bunny Austin, the slim British veteran, once considered too frail to survive championship play, in the role of giant-killer in the Cup matches. In 1931, he beat Shields and Wood, in 1933, Vines; and this year took the measure of Allison and Budge, on whom America's hopes depended.

ALLISON WINS

Allison's Easy Win

Wilmer Allison, ranking United States singles player, defeated Henry G. Brunie of New York with ease; scores were 6-0, 6-2 and 6-2. Frank Shields, considered America's most promising young tennis star, had little difficulty in eliminating Henry Emard of Montreal in three straight sets, 6-0, 6-3 and 6-1.

Sidney Wood, another of America's youthful court luminaries, started slowly against William Reese of Atlanta by losing the first set, 1-6, but recovered and sailed through the next three, 6-2, 6-3 and 6-2 to take the match.

Menzel Triumphs

The Czecho-Slovakian star, Roderick Menzel, defeated Norcross Tilney, Princeton University student, 7-5, 6-3, 4-6 and 6-2.

In the women's division, Miss Helen Jacobs and Mrs. Sarah Paley Fabyan, who last week combined to win the national doubles championship, each won their first-round matches in the singles to-day.

Another winner was Miss K. Stammers, conqueror of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody in the tourney at Kent, England, and member of the British Wightman Cup team—United Press.

MAX BAER AND A BRITISH FILM

Karl Grune, the famous German who made "The Street" and "Abdul the Damned," will direct, and the cast already includes Olive Brook, Anna Neagle, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, and Nils Asther.

I was informed yesterday by Mr. Max Schach, on behalf of Capitol Films, that the negotiations have broken down writes a Home correspondent, but Baer's willingness to leave the United States is an interesting commentary on his ambitions, seeming to indicate that he is not unduly optimistic about his chances of recovering the world title.

L. DUNCAN PROMINENT IN
K.B.C.C. COMBINE

Although the match between M. J. Medina and J. Cavanagh (Craigengower) and L. Duncan and R. Duncan, (Kowloon Bowling Green), in the Final Round of the Colony Lawn Bowls Pairs Championship, began at 4.30 p.m. on the Civil Service green yesterday afternoon, by nightfall the last three heads had still to be played. These will be continued to-day.

When the game was postponed yesterday the advantage lay with the Craigengower bowlers, who led by 17 shots to 12 after having enjoyed the lead throughout.

C.C.C. PAIR — — — — TWO.

Medina was not seen at his best during the major part of yesterday's game. He had an inclination to be short, and on some occasions not one of his four woods were jack-high. He rectified this fault, however, although not until the match was well under way.

L. Duncan Excels

His opposite, L. Duncan, played splendidly, and, in fact, was the better of the two Bowling Green men. His father played some brilliant shots at times, but on the majority of the heads he was outplayed by Cavanagh, who was his usual cautious and consistent self.

The Craigengower pair opened the scoring with a "three" and a "four" on the fifth head gave them a substantial lead. The seventh head saw them leading by 11 shots to 4.

The eighth head witnessed some very good drawing on the part of the skips. With a lie of several against him Cavanagh came up with a yard on and jumped the jack to the right to be the count. Duncan failed to alter with his last two woods.

Bowling Green Pair Score

Although Medina was short with his first woods on the next head, he had the shot. L. Duncan, as always, was well up with his second, but was robbed of the counter by Medina's third wood, and the latter added another with his final bowl. With his last wood L. Duncan, however, wickered in for the shot. Cavanagh only just failed to pick this out and went through. Duncan blocked well and the best Cavanagh could do was to take the second shot.

Ex-Jockey Makes 400 Mile Ride On Mare

Mr. Sidney Ernest Evans, a Huddersfield riding school master and ex-jockey, returned to Huddersfield on August 5 after having ridden on his mare, Molly, from Huddersfield to London and back, a total riding distance of 400 miles.

His total riding time has been 17 1/2 days, and he has averaged 25 to 26 miles a day. His object was to demonstrate the powers of endurance of the horse.

He has ridden mostly in the early mornings and late afternoons and evenings, in order to avoid the midday heat, which he found rather trying.

Evans left Huddersfield on Monday, July 22, without any money. He was maintained, as was the mare, by gifts on the way, and states that great consideration was shown him by motorists and farmers.

Shing Mun Fills.

By any sensible way of reckoning the ceremony of yesterday when His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government gave the signal for the shutting of the valve which allowed the Shing Mun River to escape down to the sea instead of "doing its stuff" to make Hong Kong a healthy and clean abode of men, ought to be reckoned as a much more important event than many incidents that make more noise in the world. For it is the useful things that count and that live on into the future, and with our modern standards of living nothing could be more useful than doubling our water supply.

One of the mysteries of history is how our ancestors, or such as lived in cities, managed to survive long enough to leave any offspring. Crowded into small rooms in houses that often leaned forward so as almost to meet the house on the opposite side of the narrow street, it is no wonder that plague and pestilence had a clean run through Europe when once a source of infection was started. One answer to the conundrum might, of course, be that they did not live—at any rate as a modern man even of very humble position can live. The expectation of life was something between 42 and 45 years. At 14 or 15 a boy was supposed to have finished his education, if he had any; for anything like correct spelling and writing was beneath the dignity of any well-born man, who would pay a "clerk" to do that for him, and give him in return some much-desired privileges. The active career began at the age of 17, and did not last beyond 40. "Too old at forty" was a reality then, and not a mere slogan.

Of all the causes of the doubling of the vigour and length of life no one thing was more effective than a supply of water, and it became the mark of a high civilisation. In the lack of much of our engineering skill, and the motive power for pumping, a constant water supply involved much costly and solid masonry to lead a running stream from some eminence from which the law of gravitation would lead it to the city of the plain—and even the building of a city on a plain was a sign of civilisation; for in disturbed countries it was safer to build on a hill. No Roman Emperor could lay a surer foundation for his fame than by erecting one of those impressive aqueducts that afford all the centures of destruction still span the flats of the Campagna, into which, when the old civilisation fell into chaos, the rivers that used to flow on the higher level seeped and formed malarial marshes, which ended by making the "once fruitful farms mere waste land, and the city itself a desert. Whatever may be the final verdict on Benito Mussolini it will be recorded that his first great campaign was against the marshes of the Campagna, which he restored to health and agriculture.

The damming of the Gorge is but another item in the conquest of nature by science which for good or evil is the distinctive mark of our own day. The water that runs along pipes in abundance is making unnecessary much human labour of cartage and carriage. With a tap in the kitchen there is no need for a water-carrier, and another means of earning an honest dollar is gone for somebody. What will he do instead? Every triumph of engineering or invention means that it becomes harder to find a niche into which the unskilled man can fit himself. Is the result to be that the unskilled will be eliminated, or that some other occupation will be found for him? So far, the labour-saving campaign has far outrun the discovery of useful occupations, as is witnessed by the twenty million unemployed in Europe, and the ten million in the United States; for the existence of the unemployed does not mean that the market is not supplied. Everything either is or could be supplied cheaper and better than a few years ago; but even the luxury of a bath palls upon a hungry man. That may be running to meet the troubles of the future; it is all to the good that the Island and Kowloon should be made fit for a big and healthy population, and the future will no doubt produce its own new ways of earning a living.

It is of good omen that Macao has also been celebrating the start of a new reservoir. We are lucky in having a Gorge where gravitation will do the filling without recourse to pumps; but pumped water is better than none at all. By contrast compare the difficulties of the Italian forces on the coast of Eritrea, who have to import their supply by ship from Aden and more distant places. Those rock-hewn tanks of Aden, by the way, are like the Roman aqueducts in being a lasting memorial of an industrious and ingenious civilisation that has passed away. It is the old story. Having got a good supply of food and water they "waxed fat and kicked," and in the end they kicked back harder.

GOING TO SCHOOL

A Londoner found it interesting recently to watch Mr. Cochran rehearsing his latest chorus. "A little higher with your knees, please!" he called out.

The couple addressed obediently stepped out. They were Mr. John Gielgud and Miss Mary Ellis. Behind them danced Mr. George Robey and Miss Diana Wynyard.

In front were Gladys Cooper and Douglas Fairbanks, jun. Mr. Noel Coward was a few yards away.

It was a rehearsal for the Mammoth Cabaret in aid of the Actors' Benevolent Fund. The chorus of 24 was composed entirely of stars of the London stage.

SAILOR-ACTOR

An actor with a name famous in the history of the English theatre has just made his first appearance on the London stage.

This is Mr. Richard Sheridan, the great-grandson of the playwright.

He is taking the part of the elephant in "Noh" — a role which hardly enables him to show his striking presence to advantage.

Mr. Dick Sheridan, whose mother is Mrs. Clare Sheridan, has only just entered the twenties. But he has already shown the taste for adventure which he gets both from his mother and the Sheridan strain.

He has been round the world before, the mast, and found it strengthened his love for the sea.

DEFENDANT BOUND FOR JAPAN

Mrs. Marie Soldini, of No. 7, York Road, Kowloon, Tong, was summoned before Mr. W. M. Thomson at the Kowloon Police Court this morning for assaulting Mrs. Alina Rocha, of No. 169, Sai Yeung Choi Street, first floor, on the Star Ferry on August 23.

Mr. J. M. D'Almeida Remedios appeared on behalf of the defendant, who, he stated had left for Japan at 10 a.m. to-day.

Mr. S. E. Cole, appearing on behalf of Mrs. C. Rocha, applied for a withdrawal on the ground that his client is desirous to claim compensation for damages suffered. Mr. Cole stated that his client intends to take civil proceedings against the defendant.

On the undertaking of Mr. Remedios to get in touch with the defendant as soon as she returns to the Colony, Mr. Thomson adjourned the case sine die.

CHALLENGE TO THE LEAGUE

FATEFUL MEETING OF COUNCIL

IMPLICATIONS OF ABYSSINIAN DISPUTE EXAMINED

(By Victor Gordon Lennox)

Geneva, August 4. FOR four crowded days we have watched in Geneva the efforts of France and England to restrain Italy from embarking upon a war of conquest fraught with incalculable dangers to the peace of the world. The Council of the League of Nations have stood aside while three of their number sought a path to peace.

When the League Assembly meets in September there will be those who will raise the voice of protest.

It will then be said that, with a breach of the peace glaring before their eyes, the League took no action to protect the menaced and smaller party. It will be said that the Great Powers are preparing a fait accompli which all States, both great and small, will be asked to endorse.

It may even be said—and is being said now by some of the American commentators here—that the League has stood aside to allow three Great Powers to arrange among themselves how they will partition the territory of a fourth State, herself a member of the League.

Three Powers Consult

Such conclusions spring rather from minds wedded to the sacred written rules of the League Constitution than from an appreciation of the purpose for which the League was created—namely, as an instrument to be utilised for the prevention of war.

It is said that the events of the past four days can be held to constitute a "victory for Italy." To judge whether or not that is true it is necessary to consider the points given and taken in their relation to the "preoccupations graver than an isolated frontier incident," to which Mr. Eden referred in his broadcast two nights ago after the close of the Council session.

On the credit side can be placed several important facts. Time has been gained to permit of consultations between Britain, France and Italy with the object of ascertaining whether it may not be possible to reach "a resolution acceptable to all for the difficulties which have arisen between Italy and Abyssinia." Translated into the simplest terms, that means that Britain, France and Italy, as co-signatories to the Treaty concluded in London on Dec. 13, 1906, will consult together on the basis of their common interest "to maintain intact the integrity of Ethiopia."

Another Point
They will further discuss how the aspirations of Italy to obtain further "agricultural, commercial, and industrial concessions in Ethiopia" can be made without injury to themselves or Abyssinia. This latter point is mentioned because France and Britain have no thought in mind of arriving at a conclusion and then seeking to impose their terms on Abyssinia.

On the contrary, it is their intention that the representatives of the Ethiopian Government in Paris, where the Conference will assemble in the latter part of this week, should be consulted whenever it may appear that a basis of settlement is in sight.

I may here observe that a precise statement on this point was to have been included in the official communiqué on the subject, but was dropped out in the final negotiations in order to meet Italian susceptibilities—a technical matter to which no importance was attached by the Ethiopian Government. None the less, it is important to observe that Britain would strongly have supported Ethiopia had she launched a complaint on this score. The time gained is not to be wasted. On the contrary, it will be fully, if somewhat tardily occupied in coming to grips with the real essence of the problem.

Only Saving Grace
A clash on fundamental issues, so far avoided at Geneva, can be prevented at the Paris Conference on only one basis—that Signor Mussolini renounces his present intention of launching a war of aggression against Ethiopia.

In any event, we have Mr. Eden's pledge that he will report to the Council the outcome of these discussions, whether successful or unsuccessful, conclusive or inconclusive, at a League meeting on Sept. 4 called to deal with the whole question as it then exists.

As to the imminent resumption of work by the Commission on the Ual Ual incident, two points are worthy of note. The fifth member who thus becomes arbiter will be M. Politis, the Greek Minister in Paris, who despite his long and close association in a personal capacity with the Ethiopian Government, is widely held to be a man of outstanding impartiality and ability. It is in recognition of these qualities that he has been accepted by the Italian Government as a suitable chairman.

The other point is this. The League's ruling that "the conviction held by the local authorities on either side as to the sovereignty over Ual Ual" is to be taken into account, only as an extenuating circumstance when passing final judgment, must substantially affect the verdict.

Favourable To Italy

Among those best informed in various quarters, little or no doubt is expressed that this restriction of the investigation will result in a verdict favourable to Italy. In other words, it may be recognised that Ual Ual appears to be in territory which would be awarded to Ethiopia if and when the frontier has been delimited; but it will probably be held that the local Ethiopian commanders took the initiative in ejecting what they regarded as Italian trespassers, even though the "trespass" had passed unchallenged for over five years.

Suppose, as is only too probable, that the three Powers have not been successful in reaching a solution of the larger questions before the meeting of the League Council of Sept. 4. It will then be for the Council "to discharge the obligations placed upon it by the Covenant in the light of the situation as it then exists." The words are Mr. Eden's.

What exactly does that mean? The answer is clearly to be found in the reference to the "situation as it then exists." It is not necessarily to be assumed that a war will have been launched. The League Covenant provides abundant machinery for further pursuing the path of conciliation. But if hostilities have actually begun.

To-day's Short Story.

A Set-up For Psychology

By Peter Cheyney

DAMES don't have any gratitude—which you will see if you take one look at Sadie Perrosino who used to work the frankfurter stand in Schmid's speak-easy on Grape-street an' who ditched me for some travellin' salesman with wavy hair an' no sense of the proper thing.

Sadie is a blonde with an appeal that will knock your eye out. Also, she has a great business sense and is educated so that she can hand you out a frankfurter, a wisecrack an' some good advice whilst you are trying to find the ten-cent bit that is stuck in the lining of your pocket.

I am stuck on Sadie for years, and my intentions towards her are absolutely on the up an' up, because she gets me all poetic and I desire nothin' so much than to marry this girl and go off to Arizona with her. That bein' the only State in that part of America where the District Attorneys are not always tryin' to find out where I am for the purpose of pulling me in for something they allege I must have done at some old time around their particular dump.

So I get very hurt when she tells me that she ain't got no use for any guy without capital—which is the sort of guy I am. She also says that I should go get myself a lot of 'personality' an' brains like her friend, Willie Tobolsky, the travellin' salesman who is a smart guy.

TO-MORROW'S STORY

To-morrow's story will be "The Best Policy," by Anthony Armstrong.

This Willie Tobolsky runs a racket selling gas refrigerators on one instalment down to dames who, according to his friend in the supply office, are about to have the gas cut off, after which he collects the refrigerator and lets 'em off the rest of the payments.

Sadie says that this Willie Tobolsky was as big a sap as me until he read a book called Psychology an' Power. She said I ought to read this book an' get wise an' that if I had a thousand dollars capital she would marry me in spite of my face an' the fact that the District Attorneys of seven different States have got a decided interest in where I am at any given moment.

So I get this book an' read it, and it seems that this psychology stuff is a business what tells you what another guy is thinkin' about—that is, supposin' he does think.

I then get a big idea and go round and tell Sadie all about it, and she says it is good an' that the book is beginning to work already.

I then go round to see Billy-the-Goat, an' in case you don't know who he is, he is the guy who runs prize fights at Spitzler's Stadium. Now most of these fights that Billy runs is set-ups. They're in the bag an' everybody knows who is goin' to win about two days before the fight comes off. The result is that business is very bad for Billy.

I then proceeded to tell Billy that I have got a big idea to fix up a fight between Willy McGuiz, commonly known as the East Side Terror, an' Ike Delarez, who is a tough guy lately resigned from the beer racket over an argument with a cop, which the cop won, by usin' an unfair advantage an' a piece of lead pipe.

"The point is," says Billy, "that these two guys have gotta fight and they have gotta fight good."

He says he don't want any of this lying down in the ring an' sleepin' because, three weeks ago, his patrons have almost torn the place to pieces over some guy gettin' knocked out almost before the fight started.

I tell Billy that this is all right; that I got a big idea; an' he asks where did I get it from, to which I reply that I got it out of this psychology book.

That evenin', about six o'clock, I go an' I find McGuiz in a beer cellar on Twenty-second-street. He is drinking rye, whisky with his manager and is looking very depressed. We get down to business an' I tell these boys that I'm out to fix up a fight between McGuiz an' Delarez and that McGuiz need not bother his head about trainin' because I have already arranged that Delarez shall lay down in the third round after a right hook from McGuiz.

I say that there's not very much to it from the money angle, as the purse is only goin' to be two hundred dollars a side, the winner to take the lot, but it's easy money for them, because all they have to do is to back McGuiz to win.

They think this is a big idea, but I tell them they must be very careful about gettin' the bets on, because, so far as Billy-the-Goat is concerned, this is goin' to be a straight out-an-out fight to a finish, an' I've practically guaranteed that one of the guys is goin' to be killed in the ring.

The upshot of it is that they ask me will I do the backin' for them quietly, an', after a lot of pressin', I consent to back McGuiz with some friends of mine for seven hundred dollars, which they go an' borrow off some guy who has had a lot of rye whisky an' is not very interested in anythin'.

I then take a walk an' I find Delarez, an' I tell him the same story, only the arrangement I make with him is that McGuiz is goin' to be beat in the third round. I also tell Delarez that he must be very careful how he backs himself, as this idea of mine must be kept very quiet.

TAIPO SLANDER ACTION

$250 And Costs Against One Defendant

After several hearings extending over a period of three months, the Taipo Village slander action was concluded before Mr. R. E. Lindsell, the Puisne Judge, in the Supreme Court this morning.

The case against the first defendant, Lee Sang, was dismissed with costs, but judgment was given against the second defendant, Lee Kwai-sang, for $250 and costs.

The action was a claim by Chang Ah-tai alias Mrs. Lee Yau, for $1,000 damages, for slanderous remarks made by the defendants on the occasion of her marriage on March 14. It was alleged that the defendant then said that she was unchaste and pregnant, and trouble ensued in which her husband and Lee Kwai-sang brandished knives.

Capt. Shannon Married To Miss Hetherington

In the Registry of Marriages, Supreme Court, this morning, before Mr. T. S. Whyte-Smith, Captain Cecil Boyd Shannon, of Marble Hall, Kowloon, the son of Major William Boyd Shannon, D.S.O., was married to Miss Edith Kate Hetherington, the daughter of Mr. Frieder Joseph Hetherington.

Staff Sergeant G. E. Stokes and Mrs. Stokes, were witnesses.

Hong Kong rainfall for the 24 hours ending at 10 a.m. was 0.17 inch. The total since January 1 has been 57.39 inches, as against an average of 55.67 inches.

CONVICTION NOT ALLOWED TO STAND

Successful Appeal By Govt. Interpreter

UNSATISFACTORY SUMMING UP

In the Full Court of Appeal, before His Honour the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl McGregor, and Mr. J. J. Hayden, Mr. H. C. Macnamara, instructed by Mr. M. K. Lo, lodged an appeal on behalf of an interpreter in the Sanitary Department, Cheong Hing-U, who was convicted on August 20 on a charge of having accepted a bribe of $50; as a public servant.

In his opening to-day Mr. Macnamara briefly described the case and went on to say that at the trial there had only been two witnesses against the appellant, and these were an individual who said that he had preferred a bribe to the appellant, and the other was a man who said that he had been present at the time as an interpreter. These two men had given evidence, and as witnesses for the Crown had contradicted one another and what had previously been said.

"The learned trial judge in his ruling said that the case for the defence was in their favour and the case for the Crown was in their favour. He held, though with considerable doubt, that the Crown witnesses were not accomplices."

"The fact that the witnesses can be accused of some other crime, does not make them any the less participants in this one," Counsel concluded.

Threatened Into Bribery

Mr. W. J. Lockhart-Smith, who appeared on behalf of the Crown, said that before the two witnesses for the Crown can be regarded as accomplices, it must be shown that they are liable to be indicted, either together with the appellant or separately, with the same offence with which the appellant is charged.

"The principle witness for the Crown was threatened into offering a bribe, and there is no evidence that he offered it wantonly," the Crown concluded.

In answer to the Crown's contentions, Mr. Macnamara said that the learned trial judge in his summing up had made no mention as to whether the witnesses were accomplices or not.

Judgment Given

In giving judgment the Chief Justice said: "The appellant in this case was convicted on August 20 for accepting a bribe as a public servant. Leaving out of account certain purely formal evidence, it would appear from the learned trial judge's notes, and it has not been disputed by counsel for the Crown, that the evidence against the appellant was that of the two witnesses, Ma Shing, who had admittedly paid the money which formed the bribe, and Sin Chek-shui, who acted as interpreter between the two parties and actually received the money from Ma Shing and handed it over to the appellant."

"The appellant bases his case on these grounds: That the learned trial judge was wrong in holding that neither of the witnesses was an accomplice, and accordingly neither of them needed corroboration."

ENGINEERS ON PRINCIPLES OF HUMAN FLIGHT

Feather-Light Plane Constructed

UTILISING SMALL POWER RESERVE AVAILABLE

"CHINA MAIL" SPECIAL Frankfurt-on-Main.

To-day.

Interviewed about the principles that guided them in evolving the machinery of the type with which the pilot Duennel achieved the first successful air flight driven solely by human muscular power, the engineers Haesler and Villinger declared that they had not spent much time in theoretical speculation, but had gone straight to work along the lines which seemed to them, as skilled engineers, to promise the greatest prospects of success.

"There might," they said, "be other possibilities for utilizing muscular power than the use of a feather-light glider with a pedal propeller. Nobody has yet gathered any experience in muscular driven flight. The chief thing in proceeding along the lines adopted by us was to construct an apparatus that with the pilot is so light that it may be started by muscular power alone plus the energy stored up in taut rubber bands."

ESSENTIAL FACTOR

"The essential part played by weight is apparent from the fact that the heaviest flying creature is hardly a sixth or even an eighth of the minimum weight achieved in building this machine. Another important matter was the type of manipulating mechanism, which is entirely different from that of an ordinary aeroplane or glider, our apparatus reaching to certain rotary movements of the wings, while the tailboard, which is otherwise used to regulate altitude, remains in this model rigid."

"As is well known, a trained cyclist can exert 1.3 h.p. for a short time, but in a longer run reserve. We believe that we shall, on average, only 0.2 to 0.3. Our solve the problem, but at present we are now in to build a machine, so we prefer to work rather than to fight and aerodynamically so, all talk."—Trans-Ocean Service.

AMERICA TO CANCEL OIL CONCESSION

STANDARD VACUUM VIEWS A statement issued on behalf of the Standard Vacuum Oil Co., Ltd., declares that Mr. Rickett approached them early in 1935 regarding the possibility of negotiating a petroleum exploitation development with Ethiopia.

The company, organised the African Exploration and Development Co., Ltd., in Delaware and authorised him to negotiate the agreement. This does not provide for any payment or loan, nor has any been made. The matter has been handled as a private transaction with Ethiopia, which did not think of consulting any other Government.

President Roosevelt, informed by phone, said he was most gratified at the decision, because the grant was so upsetting to the peace negotiations.—Reuter.

U.S. POLICY UNCHANGED

A later message states that the Ethiopian concession to the African Exploration Corporation will play no part whatever in the United States' attitude towards the Italo-Ethiopian situation, announced Mr. Cordell Hull, who added that whatever the nature of the transaction may prove to be, either commercially or politically, the Government's policy towards the controversy will be maintained hereafter just as it would have been maintained had the transaction not occurred.

DISQUIETING INCIDENT

A message from London states that on the eve of the League enquiry into the Abyssinian conflict, a disquieting personal incident is reported from Addis Ababa. According to Italian sources, an Italian citizen was attacked in the street and knocked down, a stone being thrown at another Italian house.

French circles report that Count de Roquesselle, the French manager of the East African Co., has been arrested on Jijiga on charges of espionage. The French Consul, M. de Ridawa, has gone to Jijiga to investigate.

ABYSSINIA STANDS FIRM

An Addis Ababa message states that the Government is not disposed to change its attitude regarding the concession awards. It affirms in an official communique that it acted within its full sovereign rights in granting a concession exclusively of an economic character, designed to assist the development of the country.

With regard to the suggestion that the concession is contrary to the 1906 treaty, the communique says that Ethiopia is not a party thereto, while the British Government, which is a party, is not involved directly or indirectly in the concession.

TO-DAY'S MEETING

A Geneva message states that the Council will meet privately at 4 p.m. to-day, when the agenda for the first session will be settled. The meeting will be followed immediately by a public session.

ITALIANS LEAVE CAPITAL

An Addis Ababa message announces that all Italian women and children have left Abyssinia. The exodus of men continues to Djibouti.

CHINESE COOLIES RECRUITED

A message from Tokyo states that it is reported in Shanghai that the Italian Consul is engaging Chinese coolies and sending them to Italian Somaliland.—Reuter.

MR. EDEN MEETS PREMIER

A London message states that the Minister for League of Nations Affairs, Mr. Anthony Eden, motor-ed last evening across the frontier from Geneva to Aix-les-Bains to dine with the Prime Minister, Mr. Stanley Baldwin who is leaving for London to-day.

Mr. Eden arrived in Geneva yesterday to attend the League Council which meets to-day. The conversations with the French Prime Minister, M. Laval, begun in Paris on Monday night, were continued at Geneva yesterday, and not responsible for it, henceforth Mr. Eden also saw other members of the Council and the Secretary General of the League, M. Joseph

"WHITE GUARDS" TO DIE

Espionage Charges Upheld

RELATIONS MAINTAINED WITH FOREIGN POWER

"CHINA MAIL" SPECIAL

Moscow, To-day. Three former officers of the Czarist army, described as "members of the White Guard" in the official report, have been sentenced to death by a Court Martial at Irkutsk.

A semi-official news agency declares that in the course of the trial the terrorist activities of the members of the White Guard and their foreign employers were entirely exposed. It was further alleged that the condemned ex-officers maintained relations with the military commission of a certain foreign Power.—Trans-Ocean Service.

Charged with harbouring an 18-year-old unmarried girl named Lau Mei-sin between August 13 and 24 without the consent of her parents, a 23-year-old Chinese, Cheng Lok-ming, was sentenced to 12 months' hard labour by Mr. E. J. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Police Court this morning.

Avenol.

The Council will hear the report on the Three-Power Conference, which broke down in Paris on August 18, when the Italian Government rejected the Anglo-French proposals for a possible settlement of the dispute with Abyssinia.

The Council will also receive the report on the Ual Ual incident of the Italo-Ethiopian Commission of Arbitration acting under the 1928 treaty of amity.

A Set-up For Psychology

In due course Delarez, after going home and rifling the family savings, hands me 600 dollars to back him with an everything is O.K.

I then go round to Billy-the-Goat and inform him that I've fixed up a fight that will be so ferocious that there's never been anything like it, but I'm very concerned about one thing, an' that is who the referee is goin' to be. Billy considers this matter very deeply an' at last he says that I've taken such a great interest in this fight that I should appoint the referee, but that it must be a guy who'll be O.K. with both McGuire an' Delarez.

So I go round an' I see One-Eye-Smith, who is an intelligent an' a broad-minded guy, an' I outline the situation to him an' I pay him 300 dollars which I tell him I owe him, because he's a delicate guy an' would not like anybody to suggest that he would take a graft from any man, woman or child to give a wrong decision; after which I go home an' I read some more out of this book which they gave me down at the lecture hall. It begins to look to me as if this book was good in spite of the long words.

The fight is fixed for ten days ahead an', in the meantime, Billy-the-Goat proceeds to work up some excitement in the neighbourhood. He tells a story about how McGuire an' Delarez have hated each other all their lives; that they were both in love with the same woman an' that they quarrelled so terrible about this dame that she eventually went off with a drug store clerk from Oshkosh, which has embittered them 'somethin' terrible; an' that this fight between these two guys is goin' to be nothin' less but legalised murder, so much so that they have already got the beds-ready down at the hospital.

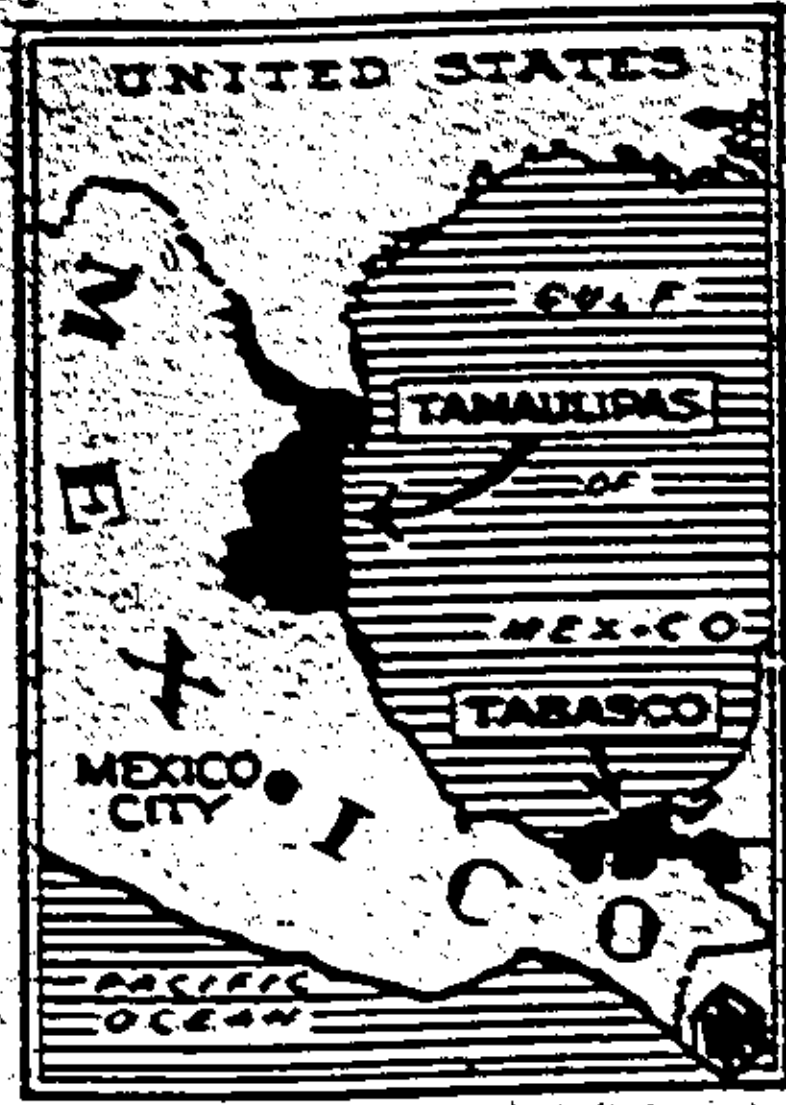

The result of all this is that the fans in the neighbourhood get a definite idea into their heads that there is really goin' to be a real fight at last at Spitzler's Stadium an' on the night you can hardly get into the building.

First of all, there's a couple of exhibition bouts an' then the big fight comes on. McGuire steps into the ring, wearing a happy smile an' a pair of sky-blue pants, whilst Delarez is in red shorts and a black eye from the night before.

One-Eye-Smith gets into the ring an' does his stuff an' the fight starts. The first round is just nothin' at all. Both of these guys jumps about the ring as if they was a pair of kittens, giving each other a playful pat now an' then.

Billy-the-Goat comes up to me, where I'm standin' by the ring-side, an' says that it don't look so good to him, because the fans are already shouting their heads off that this is no fight at all. I tell him to wait a minute; that the real business will start very soon.

The second round is very much the same an' by this time the house is in an uproar, because everybody is yellin' that the fight

The map shows the scene of the latest Mexican upheaval. An agrarian uprising forced Governor Manuel Lastra of the State of Tamaulipas, Dr. Rafael Villarreal. The resignation of Governor Lastra, lieutenant of the Tamaulipas Dictator, Thomas Garrido Canabal, and the precarious position of Villarreal were seen in political circles as a move by President Lázaro Cárdenas to clean out the last vestiges of power of General Calles.

POSTPONED FINAL

On the tenth head Li Duncan found his length, but was wide. Medina was a little through and Duncan's next wood was a touch. He improved the lay to two with his next wood. With his last bowl Duncan play another touch and Medina was short. R. Duncan, although he added another shot, opened up the head, and Cavanagh reduced the lie against him to one with a well-timed drive. This left a perfect draw and Duncan took his opportunity and added another.

Cavanagh managed to reduce a lie of two against him to one on the next head.

Very Poor Head
The 12th head was probably the poorest of the game, both leads being wide of their marks and the final counter being more than two feet from the jack. On the next head Medina began to improve, but was still unable to get the better of his opposite, who sent up a touch. Cavanagh, however, took the jack back for two.

Medina found his length with his first bowl on the fourteenth head, but Duncan's first bowl was just as good, and he afterwards placed the issue out of doubt. Baldwin centring for Ridley to with his second, with a touch. Cavanagh, however, was again equal to the occasion and sent up another touch, which was also the shot. R. Duncan then drove to make a measure necessary. Cavanagh drew the shot again, but was unlucky with his next, giving the shot away.

Best Head Of Match
The fifteenth head was one of the best of the match, there being about eight bowls clustered in close proximity to the jack. Medina lay the shot first with an excellent draw. R. Duncan next took the shot, only to be robbed of it by Cavanagh. Duncan promoted his own wood, but not sufficiently for it to be the counter. Cavanagh was narrow and Duncan again drew brilliantly only to fail to secure the shot by inches.

On the seventeenth and eighteenth heads Medina and Cavanagh after two dour struggles gained two more shots to make the score 17-12 in their favour. The match was then postponed.

is a frame-up an', secondly, owing to the fact that some guy in the gallery has pushed an ice-cream cone down another guy's neck, just because he's wearin' a stiff collar, which offends the first guy.

By the time the bell goes for the third round the place is in a pandemonium an' I tell One-Eye-Smith that this is where we start to take an interest in the fight.

They spar around for a couple of seconds an' then McGuire gives Delarez a punch on the nose an' Delarez socks back at McGuire. From my place in the corner I can hear McGuire tellin' Delarez that it's about time that he got knocked out an' I hear Delarez tellin' McGuire just what he is an' tellin' him that this where he is supposed to lay down.

The upshot of it is that these two guys get so annoyed with each other not lyin' down that they really start 'doin' somethin'.

LEE HOLDS CROWD SPELLBOUND

Right Wing Failure

Another outstanding player on display was Tay Quee-liang, the South China "A" left winger, who has lost none of his speed, while his centres from the left wing were glorious pieces of work.

An outstanding feature of the Shanghai attack was their distribution to the wingers, although Cheung Yung-sam, who deputised for Tso Kwai-shing, was a failure on the right flank.

One of the outstanding failures of the game was Leung Wing-chiu, who has deteriorated so much that it is difficult to recognise in him the player who dominated South China's displays in the 1932-33 season.

Outstanding among the Army team were Swain and Lawton in defence, the former continually robbing the Chinese during their series of desperate attacks in the closing minutes, while Lawton worked like a trojan throughout and made up for the weaknesses on his right and left flanks.

True Captain's Game

English, on the right wing, was seen at his best in the opening half, while Sandford shone throughout. Higgins was decidedly off colour and was never at his ease. Ridley played a true captain's game and made many glorious openings. What I did like about his display was the way in which he fell back to assist in the defence when it was hard pressed.

Baldry gave a promising display and should again be one of the dangerous wingers on display this season.

First Score

The visitors opened the scoring rather fortunately, as Suen Kam-shun's shot was deflected into the goal off Swain's foot as the latter ran across to intercept his drive.

Very soon afterwards Rowlands made a splendid save from Lee Yee-sun, and at the other end Bidley sent Higgins through, but the Army leader was too slow off the mark.

A stinging drive from English on the right wing saw the ball rise to Higgins' head, and the leader did not hesitate to deflect the ball past Lee Wai-tong and Tsui Hang, into the net for the equaliser.

The Army took the lead soon afterwards through Sandford, who sent a pass to Sandford, who netted with a splendid shot.

Wonderful Goalkeeping

Suen then brought the spectators to their feet with a run through, but Rowlands saved splendidly from point-blank range. Tay Quee-liang eventually gave the ball to Suen who equalised with a rasping drive.

In the second half Lee Wai-tong moved to the centre-forward berth, while Lee Yee-sun replaced him at right-back. Suen taking up the inside-left position.

This change had a wonderful effect on the visitors, who took the lead through Lee Wai-tong, the latter scoring one of his typical goals in a magnificent effort.

Soon after Lee again brought the spectators to their feet, but Rowlands ran out to brilliantly deflect a terrific drive for a fruitless corner.

Glorious Goal

Then Lee Wai-tong gave the Chinese a two goals' lead when he neatly gathered a long pass from Suen to slip down the centre and score with a wonderful shot into the top of the net.

With only 10 minutes to go, Sandford scored neatly, nothing from a centre by Baldry. Three minutes later Sandford worked himself through the Chinese defence to send Higgins through, and the Army leader made no mistake for the equaliser.

Sandford culminated a brilliant day's display with an equally brilliant goal to give the Army victory, turning the ball into the net after a first-time effort by Higgins.

Shanghai Chinese:—Tsu Hang; Lee Yee-sun and Lee Ning; Leung Wing-chiu, Chan Chan-cheung and Chan Hong-kwong; Cheung Yung-cam, Keung Loo, Lee Wai-tong, Suen Kam-shun and Tay Quee-liang. Army:—Rowlands; Swain and Steele; Smith, Lawton and North; England, Sandford, Higgins, Ridley and Baldry.

CHALLENGE TO THE LEAGUE

the Council will be obliged to face up to its greatest responsibility—that of applying sanctions against the State declared to have "had resort to war in disregard of its Covenant."

Prejudgment Impossible

At this stage it is impossible to prejudge what action would commend itself to the League. One thing I can, however, state with conviction. Those countries which have been represented in Geneva during the past week would have endorsed more positive action at the present stage had the Great Powers considered that the prevention of war would have thus been better assured.

The background to this situation is of very general interest to the United Kingdom. It could not have been brought about but for the great tightening of the bonds between France and Britain.

It is true that it fell to Mr. Eden to inject most of the starch which so usefully stiffened the Anglo-French front against further concessions. But during the process it became perfectly clear that M. Laval and his advisers were at one in desiring the closest co-operation of Britain. No less obvious was the renewed French conviction that Franco-British co-operation, beyond all other attractions, is for France the most valuable assurance against the risk of war. The point is one which will not, I think, be overlooked in Rome during the next few weeks.

British Interests

The testing time lies immediately ahead. Through this coming week the British Government must formulate its views on the attitude to be adopted by Mr. Eden as its delegate at the Three Power Conference. In Paris and in Rome Ministers and their experts will be similarly engaged, and some approximate agreement on the agenda will doubtless be sought through diplomatic channels.

These discussions will bring the British Government face to face with the reactions of the Italo-Abyssinian affair on British-African interests. Hints have already been dropped from the Italian side that British interests in Lake Tana might appropriately be discussed.

Here lies a hint of a proffered bargain, and also of a veiled threat to one of Egypt's vital concerns. There must also be considered the effects upon the great coloured population of British territories in Africa and other continents. In reply to the fourth round is terrific. McGuiz is calling Delarez everything that he can think of, including some words that even I have never heard before, and what Delarez is saying is awful, but neither of these guys will lie down, as arranged, and the other guy, thinking he's had a phoney deal, starts to do some honest fighting for the first time in his history.

The fight goes on for twelve rounds, when it's stopped by the referee, who says that he's just got a tip-off that the police are coming to raid the place and that, anyway, the fight is a draw.

However, it proceeds for some time owing to the fact that they can't drag McGuiz away from Delarez and that Delarez can't get out of the ring owing to the fact that he can't see. McGuiz having poked his finger in his eye, but by the time they get these guys sorted out, I have already left the building with a double ticket for myself and Sadie for Arizona, which is one State where the District Attorney is not interested in me, and one thousand dollars, which is the balance of the money I got from the boys and which I did not back anybody with.

I am feeling very good and I go straight round to Schmid's speak-

Italian contention that her colonies are being menaced by attack from Ethiopia. Britain might appropriately point to the relatively tiny garrison on which she relies for the preservation of order in much greater territories bordering on Abyssinia.

Italy's Responsibility

The possibility of being able to maintain the present loose guard upon our frontiers could, however, be gravely prejudiced by Italy if she sought to carry her aggressive plans into effect. It would certainly be rendered still more difficult should Britain be thought guilty of being a party to an imposed settlement.

Already the effect of the arms embargo is being felt. Addis Ababa has accepted it with bad grace. Here one hears frequent allusion to the unfair handicap under which Abyssinia is placed by it, and the first result has been to create new difficulties for Governments wishing to increase the forces with which they would protect their nationals who are compelled to remain in the menaced capital.

One had expected that some general agreement would be sought on this subject. In fact, the matter was not discussed. Nor, I think, is any change likely to be made so long as attempts at conciliation are one.

easy and there I find Willie Tobolsky, the travelling salesman, and he tells me that Sadie has told him all about my little idea and that he thinks it is great, but that she is very worried in case McGuiz or Delarez should collect me before I have time to get away, and that, in any case, I should be careful to change the notes they gave me for other notes in case some smart guy remembered some of the numbers, in which case they would know I had not backed anybody.

This is a good idea, so Willie Tobolsky gives me a thousand dollar bill for the notes and tells me to rush down to Sadie's apartment, where she is waiting, and pick her up, as she wishes to get out of Chicago with me as quickly as possible.

So I rush round there, and when I get there I get a note, which Sadie has left, saying that she is going off with Willie Tobolsky and that I had better not try to spend any of the thousand dollar bill which he gave me, as same was made by a friend of his and likely to get me into some more trouble with District Attorneys.

The note also goes on to say that I should have read a bit more of the psychology book, which says that you should not put your trust in princes or any other sort of guys, which is a wisecrack that also goes for Willie Tobolsky, who has got my money and also Sadie Perrosino.

All of which will show any guy that it is no good trying to make money by honest ways, because some crook like Willie Tobolsky will always get it off you.

So I am now in a very hot spot because now the District Attorney for Chicago City is now also looking for me over the matter of Willie Tobolsky's thousand dollar bill, which, owing to the depression, I have handed to some guy whose eyesight is not so good.

And I also have some news that Willy McGuiz is looking for me too with a piece of iron bar to which he is partial when he is not so pleased with any guy, and that Ike Delarez and friends are aiming to blow up Spitzler's Stadium any night from now on.

I also have a telephone message from Billy the Goat. Informing me that if same occurs he will lay information against me that will get me about 3,000 years in the State Penitentiary on about 47 different counts.

So now there is practically no place in this man's country where the District Attorney is not looking for me, except Arizona, which is too far to walk, and where that dishonest guy Willie Tobolsky has gone off with Sadie. Perrosino who is a dame with no sense of gratitude at all and who does not know a good guy when she sees one.

GENERAL CHIN FOR PEIPING

Acting Chairman Of Chahar

RETURNING AFTER SHORT VISIT

Tientsin, To-day.
General Chin Teh-chen and Mr. Siao Chen-ying left yesterday afternoon for Peiping.
Interviewed at the station, General Chin stated that after a brief stay in Peiping, he will return to Kalgan officially to assume his duties as Acting Chairman of Chahar. The date of the oath-taking ceremony for all the members of Chahar Provincial Government will be decided after his arrival at Kalgan. General Chin added.

GEN. SUNG'S POST

Questioned as to when General Sung Chih-yuan will come to Peiping and assume his duties as garrison commander for Peiping and Tientsin, General Chin said that General Sung had not yet received the mandate of formal appointment from Nanking, and in the meantime he will not go to the old capital.

General Chin further said, that after his return to Kalgan he will make a journey to Peiping upon General Sung's assumption of office.—Central News Agency.

FLOOD DAMAGE IN WUTUAN

Widened Breach In
Dyke Appears

UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPTS AT RELIEF WORKS

Suchow, To-day.
Big volumes of flood waters of the Yellow River poured into Wutuan, north of Hsuehchow, this morning, as the result of the widening of the dyke breach there. The surrounding district has now become a vast expanse of water.

Mr. Wang Kung-yu, Hsuehchow magistrate, proceeded to-day for the flooded area and personally supervised an attempt to close the breach. But owing to the force of the flood, the work of relief has not yet succeeded.

SMALLER DAM BUILT
"Another smaller dam has, however, been built near the breach to check the rush of the flood waters. Large quantities of materials have been transported to the spot by the District Government to repair the dyke.

Meanwhile great anxiety is being felt by the authorities and inhabitants at Chetaolou, north of Hsuehchow, where the flood waters are threatening to overflow the banks at any moment. The authorities have issued emergency instructions to the inhabitants, that upon the sounding of signals, they should all rush out to help in flood defence work.—Central News Agency.

SUPPRESSION OF BANDITRY

Demilitarised Zone
Activity

Peiping, To-day.
Having completed his official affairs in Peiping, Mr. Ying Jue-keng left for Tientsin by train yesterday morning personally to conduct the trial in connection with the assassination of Captain Liu Tso-chow and to confer with Captain Chang Yen-tien, of the Peace Preservation Corps in the demilitarised zone, on the suppression of the bandits of that area.

It is learned from official circles that the bandit chaos in the demilitarised zone, is threatening to create disturbances. The local authorities, however, have been instructed by the Provincial authorities to keep a close watch over the movements of the bandits and to co-operate with the Peace Preservation Corps to exterminate them.—Central News Agency.

LONG-DISTANCE PHONE

Service Between America & China?

Shanghai To-day.
Mr. Tan Wei-hanah has been commissioned by the Ministry of Communications to negotiate for the inauguration of a direct long-distance telephone service between China and the United States.

Mr. Tan will leave for America next week aboard the R.M.S. Empress of Japan. He will inspect the apparatus for the long-distance telephone service in nine provinces in the country. The apparatus has already been ordered from America by the Ministry of Communications.—Central News Agency.

CHINESE YARN FACTORY

Delayed By Finance
Difficulties

Nanking, To-day.
Financial difficulties have prevented the early realization of the Chinese yarn factory, as suggested by the Shanghai Silk Trade Guild to the Ministry of Industry. It is estimated that the project will require at least several millions dollars. No way has yet been worked out to raise the necessary capital.—Central News Agency.

Tokyo and Nanking.
Ambassador Chiang will return to China in the middle part of this month and will submit the terms of the Sino-Japanese economic entente for approval to the Sixth Plenary Session of the Executive Committee.

DR. MEI LAN-FANG ENTERTAINED

Making Short Visit
To Shanghai

Nanking, To-day.
Dr. Mei Lan-fang, who has been visiting Nanking, will leave for Shanghai by train this evening.

He was entertained at a tiffin party given by Mr. Tao Lu-chien, Political Vice-Minister of the Interior, at noon yesterday. Among those present at the reception were Mr. Hsu Hsin-chih, Administrative Vice-Minister of the Interior, and Mr. Tang Yu-jen. At two o'clock yesterday afternoon Dr. Mei called on Mr. Yeh Tzu-chang, Dr. H. H. Kung and Dr. Mo Bogomoloff.

Dr. Mei will return to Nanking again next week to participate in charity performances for the benefit of the flood victims.—Central News Agency.

299.875 MILES AN HOUR

A slight breeze reduced his speed on the second run against the wind, and the average speed, which constitutes a new world record—the former record was 276.816 m.p.h.—was 299.874 miles an hour.

Conditions were perfect both as to surface and visibility, but, although the breeze was light, it slowed down the car by about nine miles per hour, and Sir Malcolm, who is disappointed at not raising the record over the 300 miles an hour mark, has declared that he may make another attempt to-day if the air is more still.

The engine stood up to the tremendous test magnificently. At the end of the second run the rear-side front tyre blew out, but Sir Malcolm showed wonderful nerve and kept the great car on its course.

CONGRATULATIONS

The Minister of Transport, Mr. Hore Baglisha, and Lord Wakefield have telegraphed congratulations to Sir Malcolm Campbell on his great achievement. Lord Wakefield says that in raising the world land speed record to such an astonishing figure "You have nobly upheld the high reputation of British engineering and earned the admiration of motorists and sportsmen of all nations."—British Wireless Service.

LOCAL BANK CLOSES

It is generally believed that the Bank has suffered considerable losses on exchange during the last few months.

An early telephonic enquiry to Canton this morning elicited the information that the Canton branch was functioning as usual, but it was stated later that the branch there had also closed its doors.

The suspension of the Bank's payments, whether temporary or not, has caused considerable dislocation in local business circles, especially among the Chinese, who were its most numerous depositors. Further developments will be watched with anxiety.

TO-DAYS AGENDA
A Geneva message states that the agenda for the first session of the League of Nations Council to-day was announced by the League of Nations Secretariat yesterday afternoon. The usual opening secret session begins at 4 p.m. and will be followed by a public session, whose sole business will be the Italo-Abyssinian conflict.

REPORT DENIED
An earlier message from Rome stated that the British news agency report alleging that a strong detachment of Italian troops had invaded Abyssinian territory after an Italian outpost had been suddenly attacked, by Abyssinian was strictly denied in official quarters there.

DUKE OF AOSTA VOLUNTEERS
A further Rome message stated that the cousin of the King of Italy, the Duke of Aosta, had volunteered for service with the Black Shirt division "February 1" in East Africa. This would be the first member of the Royal family to serve with the Fascist militia.

PORTABLE WIRELESS SETS
A message from Addis Ababa stated that portable short-wave transmitters and receivers were being supplied to all the provincial Governors and generals by order of the Emperor. The apparatuses arrived on Sunday and were accompanied by trained Egyptian "Trans Ocean Service" operators.

PLANE OVER EGYPT
A Cairo message stated that military aeroplanes might fly over Egyptian territory only after permission had been requested a fortnight in advance, stated a circular note addressed to all the foreign Governments represented in the League of Nations.

BILL OF AMENDMENT TO BE CONSIDERED

At to-morrow's meeting of the Legislative Council the Colonial Secretary will move that the report of the Finance Committee (No. 12) dated August 22, 1935, be adopted, and also two resolutions: one dealing with $2,771,371 on account of the loan works being met from surplus balances during the financial year 1935 pending the issue of a further loan; and the other approving the expenditure of $78,000 on the vehicular ferry during the year 1935.

The Attorney-General will move the first reading of a bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the deportation of undesirable aliens; and also the second reading of seven other bills which have already been considered.
